ANOTHER TOWN HOME ENTERED

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Baughman on West Middle Street Burglarized of Money and Jewelry. Entered by Front Door.

An entrance was gained to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis G. Baughman, 238 West Middle street, between three and four o'clock this morning and about $18.50 in cash and a gold ring taken from Mr. and Mrs. Baughman's bedroom.

As in the other burglaries which have taken place in town during the past few weeks the miscreant seemed to be after money and small valuables only, though he overlooked a gold watch, gold necklace, and two rings which were near the ring taken.

Entrance was evidently gained through the front door, the thief pushing out the key on the inside and then inserting his own from the street. Going up to the room in which Mr. and Mrs. Baughman were asleep, the man took from Mr. Baughman's trousers pocket a purse containing $12.50. The garment was lying on a chair right next to the bed. The six dollars and ring were then taken from the bureau, the burglar in his haste evidently overlooking the other valuables.

The ring contained a ruby and four pearls and had on the inside the initials E. W. and J. E. L. and could be easily identified by Mr. Baughman who has notified the authorities and jewelers to be on the lookout for it.

Mr. Baughman is positive that the burglar got into the house between three and four o'clock Mrs. Baughman and he had been at the theatre during the evening but when they returned found the house locked as they left it. They are positive they locked everything when they went to bed and this morning found the key on the buffet in the front room and the door standing partly open. Mrs. Baughman was awake about three o'clock and shortly afterward heard their pet dog bark downstairs but thought nothing of it. There is no clue to the burglar.

TROUBLE FOR SAM WEINSTEIN

Gettysburg Junk Dealer Gets into Trouble in York. Receives Stolen Goods and has his License Revoked.

Samuel Weinstein, formerly of this place and now trading in York as the Gettysburg Junk Company, was fined $100 by Mayor Weaver, and his license was revoked, for having withheld from the police information relating to stolen goods purchased. The prosecution was the first under the new ordinance affecting junk dealers and pawn brokers.

Henry J. Enders, one of the two men arrested by Chief of Detectives White for stealing pig lead from the York Chemical Works, confessed that he sold 800 pounds of the metal to this company, although Weinstein had denied any knowledge of it. Under the ordinance, blanks are furnished junk dealers and pawn brokers upon which must be listed all goods of any importance received, with the names of those who offer the articles. Weinstein had made no record of the transaction.

In the police court Lewis Jacobson, clerk for Weinstein, told of the purchase of the pig lead. The lead had been shipped to Philadelphia, where it was located, and Weinstein has arranged to refund to the dealer the amount paid for it in order to secure its return. Weinstein's license would not have expired until next June. It is likely another person will take out the license.

The clerk, Jacobson, was discharged.

LETTER FROM ROBERT S. BREAM

Well Known Resident of Cumberland Township Writes Concerning New York Trip. Sees Fancy Horses and Tells of them.

Robert S. Bream, of Cumberland township, writes the following from Buffalo, New York, to The Times:

During my visit to this place I had the pleasure of seeing "Malvolio" and meeting his owner, Mr. Taylor, who is a millionaire business man here and a lover of good horses, having owned "Masoot" when he held the world's record for pacers.

Although Buffalo has a national reputation for good horses and "Malvolio" is now past twenty years he is still called "King of the Buffalo Speedway" and always heads the procession at the annual parade of the Gentlemen's Road Drivers Association. He also won several races at the matinees here this season.

"Malvolio" is well known in Adams County, having been owned and developed in his colthood days by our townsman, John C. Lower, and is the grand sire of Loubrician and a few others in the county.

Yours truly,
Robert S. Bream.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear mother, Mrs. Josephine C. Sachs, who departed this life November 16th, 1909. Dear mother thou art gone,

Where there are no troubles, trials nor fears
To that land of pure delight,
Beyond this vale of tears.

Thy place has been made vacant here,
Which none on earth can fill:
With sorrow and tears we humbly bow.

To his divine and holy will,
Thou ever in our memory be,
For the good deeds on earth thou hast done.

Thou hast finished thy course fought
The good fight of faith,
Over death the victory, thou hast won.

By her daughter, Margaret.

ONE AHEAD

R. Wm. Bream, of Springs Avenue, reports peas picked from the vines in his garden last week. This is one ahead of the Buford Avenue report published yesterday.

LARGE furnished room for rent. Apply Times office.

Lamb, Ram and Mutton.
The time that elapses between service and lambing runs from 145 to 150 days. About 147 days will catch the great majority. As in mares, the males are carried slightly longer than the females. Old ewes, say from four to six years, will produce the most lamb and will save the most. There are more single lambs produced by young ewes than by older ones. Mutton is the wool sheep. Shropshire the all purpose and Southdown the best mutton sheep.

Weeding Small Fruits

Do your weeding among the small fruits with mulching of straw hay, straw or forest leaves. This will save a large amount of hard work in hoeing. It builds the moisture, keeps the weeds from growing, keeps the fruit clean while growing and ripening. The fruit will grow much larger and of finer quality and certainly will bring better prices.

Hunter Dashed Into Burning Hut and Dragged Companion Out.

Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 16.—Arthur Love is in the Williamsport hospital suffering from injuries that may cause his death, sustained in a heroic rescue of his companion, C. F. Wherry, of Waterville, from a burning hunting lodge.

While Wherry was asleep some one spilled tar on the floor and set fire to it to burn off the sticky stuff. The lodge caught fire and Wherry's presence was forgotten.

Manuel Visits England's Royal Family to Choose a Queen.

London, Nov. 16.—King Manuel, of Portugal, arrived here from Cherbourg, France. Officially he is merely a guest of King Edward. In reality he comes to England to find a bride and a consort for his throne.

The young king will spend a fortnight as a guest of the royal family, dining with them daily. State banquets will be given in his honor and he will be invested by King Edward with the insignia of the Order of the Garter. There will be shooting excursions in the Windsor forest and several theatrical performances.

It is said that the elder daughter of the princess royal is King Edward's choice. But she—the Princess Alexandra—has objections to becoming a queen, if reports are true. She wants to wed an English nobleman, and rumor has it that her lenient uncle will let her marry the Marquis of Stafford if she doesn't like King Manuel. It is said the young princess is disheartened by the experiences of Ena of Battenberg as queen of Spain.

But another princess of Battenberg, Louisa, the twenty-year old daughter of Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, is mentioned as a possibility for the royal match. And the young Princess Maud of Fife is also looked upon as a may-be if not a would-be queen.

STEEL TRUST LABOR'S ENEMY

A. F. of L. Declare It Unions' Greatest Opponent.

TEMPERANCE ROW COMING

Big Meeting Attended by Prominent Labor Leaders Forebodes Trouble in Convention—Brewery Workers and Bartenders Stirred Up.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 16.—With a unanimous chorus of "ayes," the American Federation of Labor adopted a resolution declaring the United States Steel corporation the "most formidable and aggressive enemy" of organized labor.

The resolution, which was introduced by P. J. McArdle, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, recommends that a meeting be held during the present convention of the executive officers of all organizations representing the steel industry to outline a campaign of organization among the employees of the steel corporation and devise ways and means to make the fight against the corporation more effective.

The committee on organization reported in favor of the organization of federal unions among the farm employees and unskilled workmen in the small towns, these unions to be chartered under the American Federation of Labor.

The attack upon the saloon at the big temperance meeting in Massey hall by Vice President John Mitchell and Treasurer John B. Lennon, of the American Federation of Labor, and President Thomas L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, was the subject of much quiet discussion among the delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention.

Although the meeting was not directly under the auspices of the federation, it was largely attended by the delegates and was conducted by Rev. Charles Steigle, a fraternal delegate from the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America. The meeting has stirred up the representatives of the brewery workers, bartenders and cigarmakers, and there is a possibility that they may have something to say later in the convention.

President Gompers declined to discuss the action of the Philadelphia Central Labor Union, favoring a two weeks' general strike throughout the country as a protest against the imprisonment of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison for contempt of court.

Vice President John Mitchell expressed the opinion that the attitude of organized labor with reference to the sentence imposed upon the federation's officers was already well known.

"I do not think that the officers of international unions or the delegates to this convention would favor such a strike as is proposed by our good friends in Philadelphia," he added.

GOMPERS HAS TILL FRIDAY

Labor Leader Must Go to Jail Unless Appeal Is Filed.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia denied an application made by counsel for Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, sentenced to jail for contempt, for a stay in the issuance of the mandate to the supreme court of the District of Columbia until Jan. 2, 1910. Unless notice of an appeal is given before next Friday night the mandate will be handed down next Saturday.

WHAT LIQUOR DID

Temperance Worker Says Drunken Mothers Killed 200,000 Babies in 1903.

York, Pa., Nov. 16.—Miss Marie C. Brehm, of Chicago, who has been interested in temperance work in this country, made some strange statements while she was speaking at the Presbyterian church.

She said 530,000 boys in the United States had become addicted to alcoholism during 1908. In the same time 200,000 babies in the United States were smothered to death by drunken mothers; 4786 wives were murdered by drunken husbands; 7000 murders were committed by persons under the influence of liquor; of 11,000 suicides 6000 were caused by alcoholism; 1,000,000 deaths were brought about by drunkard cab drivers and chauffeurs; 40,000 wives and mothers were made widows; 85,000 persons were made insane through intoxicating liquors; 100,000 men, women and youths went to prison during 1908 as the result of alcoholism.

PRISON TERM FOR SHERIFF SHIPP

U. S. Supreme Court Acts in Contempt Case.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The supreme court imposed sentences of ninety days imprisonment for contempt upon Sheriff Joseph E. Shipp, of Memphis, and Luther Williams and Nick Nolan, citizens of that town, who were members of the mob which lynched Ed Johnson, a negro, in 1906, and of sixty days upon Deputy Sheriff Jeremiah B. Gibson and Henry Padgog and William Mays, the latter also members of the mob.

The proceedings arose out of the lynching of Johnson, who had attacked a woman. The negro was taken from the jail at Memphis, Tenn., on March 19, 1906, by a mob and hanged from a railroad bridge on the outskirts of the city, his body also being filled with bullets. Johnson had been convicted and sentenced to be hanged by the state court, and had applied to the federal court in Tennessee for release on a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that he had not received a fair trial.

When his application was denied his counsel asked Justice Harlan, in circuit Tennessee is included, for a writ of error for the review of that decision by the supreme court. Justice Harlan referred the matter to the court which directed the writ to issue, and the clerk of the court notified Sheriff Shipp, in whose custody Johnson was, and other state officers of the action, informing them that the prisoner was under the protection of the court.

The interference of the federal court in the matter was resented by the people of Memphis, and the same evening a mob formed, stormed the jail and lynched Johnson.

Trials at the Vermont station show there is no material difference in milk producing value between immature and mature corn fodder when compared on the basis of dry matter. The same results were secured with silage made from mature and immature corn. A pound of dry matter of the immature corn produced the same results as a pound of dry matter of the mature corn. This suggests that if corn is cut too early the farmer loses too many pounds, and, on the other hand, if cut too late too much in the way of coarse butts is wasted.

A BOSS BERRY GROWER.

Horticultural papers of recent date cite the case of a strawberry grower at Croston, E. C., who last year raised 2,206 crates of strawberries—52,944 quarts—from four and one-eighth acres. In explaining the remarkable yield obtained the grower attributes it to careful preparation of and enriching the land before setting the plants; thorough cultivation, snipping blossoms, layering the runners and spraying two or three times the rows and scattering nitrates and covering with mulch pulled from berry rows the second season. In explanation of the prices received for berries, never less than $2.20 per crate, he lays especial stress on making preparations for the picking and packing of the fruit and shipping to but one dealer in a town. From the standpoint of productiveness and shipping quality he ranks the varieties of berries he has grown in the following order of excellence: Dunlap, Warfield, Parsons Beauty, Glen Mar, Clyde, Tennessee Prolific and La J. Thompson. This getting a gross return of close to $1,200 from each acre of land may be in part due to favorable climatic conditions, but more than all else to the man and the fact that he has made a very thorough business of growing strawberries.

A Few Facts About LIVER TROUBLE.

A dull, sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling to the entire body. When the liver works properly the blood courses through the body in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter. A great many people try to get a fine, clear, pink and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a lifetime and the same yellow complexion would remain—for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexion. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

To get rid of the dull, heavy feeling and muddy, yellow complexion get the liver to working again. Two 50c bottles of BLOODLINE will do it nine times out of ten. If you are troubled with Constipation and Straining use BLOODLINE LIVER PILLS with the BLOODLINE.

CHICKEN CHIROPODY.

Yes, you've been mad long enough at those hens that puff themselves like circus balloons and eat and eat and squat in the corner and lay not in winter days, when eggs are worth having.

Now, John, you know if a man doesn't exercise he becomes a flabby jellyfish, and a hen whose blood doesn't cut capers around her egg capacity is a mutt.

Don't show absence of gray matter by buying poultry secrets on how to tell a layer and make hens lay and earn you a living off a 10 by 10 lot. Their hen hypnosis is mysticism and will give you pessismism.

Chiropractize your hens.

You're short on long green because your hens are long on toe nails and short on egg records.

Those long nails are the nails in the coffin of your poultry funeral.

Make them scratch off those nails. Rig up a scratch floor, provide deep litter, make them dig for their grain.

They'll sing merrily, they'll lay, lay, and you'll never again hear wifey say, "Didn't I tell you chickens don't pay?"

BROKEN RULES CAUSED DISASTER

Recklessness of Men Responsible For Mine Horror.

FIRE BREAKS OUT AFRESH

Smoke and Flames Drove Rescuers From Death Shaft at Cherry, Ill. Now Certain All Entombed Men Are Dead—1000 Orphans and 200 Widows to Mourn.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 16.—The three hundred or more miners who were entombed in the St. Paul coal mine by last Saturday's fire are dead, and it is now believed that the disaster was entirely due to their reckless disregard of the mining laws and the mine's rules. Some of the bodies lie buried beneath thousands of tons of earth which caved in upon them. It is doubtful whether many of the bodies can ever be recovered.

The inquest is expected to show evidence of disregard of orders by the miners. The state officers are taking a deep interest in the inquest, but their guarded statements make it apparent that they do not expect a decision that will blame any particular person for the fire.

Flames Rekindled.

Fans employed in an effort to carry oxygen and life down to the imprisoned men served only to enliven some embers which sprang into flames. Soer the heat and smoke became so dense that it was necessary again to seal the mouth of the hoisting shaft, and the men down there, in whatever their condition, are locked in as effectively as in a dungeon.

Attempts to take out the bodies depend on the condition of the internal fire. It is possible that carbonic acid gas will be forced to the bottom of the mine to choke off the flames.

It is now believed that no one will be brought out of the mine alive. Before the fire broke out again rescuers descended four times into the shaft. Then the rumor circulated quickly through the crowds that the men below ground had been reached and that the reason they were not brought up immediately was that they were exhausted by lack of food and the smoke.

But the truth was far different. The rescuers did, on one occasion, go down 300 feet to the bottom of the hoisting shaft. Then groping their way with electric lamps and kept alive by oxygen carried with them, they penetrated 150 feet into the bottom gallery. But none of the miners, either dead or alive, was found.

Calls Are Unanswered.

"Hey, are you there?" cried the rescuers, but nothing was heard in response.

It was conjectured the miners had crawled far safety into the recesses remotest from the fire, but to these parts the rescuers were unable to go without rescinding. Before they could re-descend the fire had broken out. Gradually the crowd about the mouth of the shaft began to thin as hope seemed to wane.

As a result of the disaster there are in this town of only a few thousand inhabitants at least 1000 orphans and 200 widows. These are the figures of Duncan McDonald, president of district No. 12, United Mine Workers of America, who instituted a roll call of the families of the entombed miners.

The Knights of Pythias lodge, the most important organization in town, had a membership of seventy-six last week. Today there are only six members; the rest are in the ill-fated mine.

President Lewis of the Mine Workers, has advised the local union that $5000, the contribution of the national body, will immediately be placed at the disposal of the widows and orphans of the mine victims.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 16.—"Not guilty, but pay the costs," was the verdict of the jury in the case of the commonwealth vs. John Hornberger, who was tried last week on the charge of committing frauds as an election officer of the Fifth ward of Shenandoah at the primaries in June last.

TO CONSIDER R. R. CONTROL

Taft Will Hold Conference to Amend Interstate Commerce Law.

Washington, Nov. 16.—If possible, President Taft is going to compel the great railroad men of the country to agree to amendments to the interstate commerce and anti-trust statutes before they are submitted to congress. He began a series of conferences with the railroad men, with Senator Elkins, chairman of the interstate commerce commission and Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary Nagel and Chairman Knapp, of the interstate commerce commission.

The object is to compel the big railroad men to suggest wherein the law can be made strong against rebates and unjust discriminations. He is taking them at their word that they desire to do nothing more than is lawful and live up to the rule that they must treat everybody alike. That being the case, he believes they can tell him wherein the law is weak and enables those who have no desire to be honest to profit by their dishonesty.

STUDENT PADDOLED AND DUCKED UNDER PUMP

He Criticized Selection of Brown Football Team.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 16.—Vernon Edgar Babington, 1911, was taken from his room at Brown university, paddled and then ducked under the old college pump. The whole student body looked on in approval.

President Faunce said that the affair would be investigated and punishment meted out if the case warranted it.

The alleged cause of Babington's humiliation was the writing of a letter to the Providence Sunday Journal, in which he declared that "the fraternity evil is the real reason for Brown's bad showing on the gridiron this fall." He bemoaned the fact that the coaches favored men from sanctioned fraternities and gave the cold shoulder to others who belonged to less powerful organizations or, "worse still, to none at all."

Most of the students read the letter, and to say that all of them were torrid under the collar would be putting it very gently.

Babington's case was submitted to the student body. The verdict was that the accused should go under the pump, and the quicker the better. Thereupon several of the biggest men in college ran across the middle campus and up to Babington's room. In about half a minute he was overpowered and carried downstairs, where the multitude waited in silence. With Babington and his captors in the lead, the procession moved over to the pump, where the victim was ducked and paddled.

THE LIABILITY LAW

Supreme Court Practically Affirms Amended Act.

Washington, Nov. 16.—In a case arising under the old federal employers' liability law, the supreme court held that the act was constitutional in the territories and the District of Columbia, although a year ago it held that it was void in the several states because it affected also domestic commerce, over which the states alone had jurisdiction. As congress at its session last winter amended the act so as to exclude domestic commerce, the effect of the decisions is to practically affirm the validity of the amended act.

FACES SMUGGLING CHARGE

U. S. Court Holds Mrs. Chesbrough In $2500 Bail For Trial.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Fremont B. Chesbrough, of Boston, was held in $2500 bail by Judge Cross in the United States court on a charge of smuggling. Mrs. Chesbrough is accused of entering the country at Hoken with goods and furs concealed in a trunk with a false bottom.

The goods are said to be worth $25,000, but she is alleged to have declared dutiable articles to the amount of only $109.

Suffocates in Mine.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 16.—After being hours under a fall of many tons of coal, rock and debris, due to an explosion of gas at the Slatery colliery, the body of William Young, thirty-five years old, of Pottsville, was recovered by a rescue force. It was found that Young, after being walled in alive, was caught beneath a second fall as he tried to dig himself out, and was suffocated.

Astor's Yacht Not Reported.

New York, Nov. 16.—The steam yacht Nourmahal, owned by John Jacob Astor and flying the flag of the New York Yacht club, sailed from Port Antonio a week ago and has not since been reported. It was said that she was going to Porto Rico. The yacht was probably in the West Indian storm, and the lack of reports of her whereabouts has caused some worry to Colonel Astor's friends.

Blizzard Raging in Minnesota.

EXPECTS TO JAIL SUGAR MEN

Attorney General Confident He Has Sufficient Evidence.

AFTER HIGH OFFICIALS

A Number of Directors of the American Sugar Refining Company Will Likely Be Punished For Wholesale Robbery at Port of New York.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Attorney General Wickersham has sufficient evidence in his possession to convince him that one or more officers and a number of the directors of the American Sugar Refining company can be punished for complicity in the wholesale robbery which the concern has perpetrated at the port of New York for many years past.

The cabinet at its meeting will go over that phase of the case, and it is expected that the attorney general will be directed to bring these individuals into court at his earliest convenience.

It was declared by an official who has kept in touch with the investigation that the ultimate exposure will astound even those who have been expecting the most sensational result.

The charges which have been made against James B. Reynolds, until recently assistant secretary of the treasury, now a member of the new tariff commission, opened up a new field of conjecture, but Mr. Reynolds issued a statement of explanation and denial.

After High Officials.

"The government is not only after all those who have been guilty of complicity in the sugar trust frauds," declared a high official, "but is paying particular attention to one or more high officials of the American Sugar Refining company, whom the evidence now in possession of the authorities shows have had a guilty knowledge of, if they did not actually direct, the robbing of the government through the system of false weighing in operation for a number of years."

The officers contend that it would be an impossibility for officers and directors to have been ignorant of this gigantic conspiracy. They admit that, as is the practice of some corporations, some of the directors have been merely figureheads, permitting the officers and certain of their fellow directors to manage the concern's affairs, but it is not conceded that directors can escape the liability on that ground, even if it existed.

In this connection officials are discussing how far the courts would relieve from legal responsibility a director who was acting in the additional capacity of counselor for the trust. The belief that the courts would admit such claim, if raised, has no existence in official mind.

Taft to Go to Bottom.

The declaration was reiterated that no power can interfere in the slightest degree with the intention of President Taft, Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary MacVeagh to go to the very bottom of the investigation. It is made clear that the cabinet to a man stands behind the president and those of his official advisers who are directly concerned in inserting the probe.

James B. Reynolds declared there never had been any attempt on the part of the so-called "sugar trust" to influence any action of his and no instructions had been issued by him having any object in view beyond good administration and fair dealing to all concerned.

Mr. Reynolds' statements were made as the result of publications to the effect that the treasury department, under the administration of President Roosevelt, displayed apparent indifference in procuring evidence of alleged "sugar trust" frauds, and that Richard Parr, a special agent of the department, in his investigations, had encountered obstacles from the outset.

Has Smallpox; Quarantines Himself.

NINETEEN BUSHELS PER ACRE.

In many sections of the oat belt there has been a marked deterioration in the oat yield during the past two or three years, and so pronounced has this been that a comment or two touching the situation may be worth while. The low yield of this year seems in part due to poor seed, but possibly in larger measure to the fact that the grain was not sown with the disk drill, as it should have been, but was broadcasted in a slack and sloppy manner, with the result that the stand was very poor. Contributing to this result is another factor that is even more fundamental—namely, a gradual depletion of the soil by an improper method of tillage to the point where it is not capable of producing a satisfactory yield. In a list of some twenty men whose thrashing returns were reported to the writer recently the average yield was but nineteen bushels to the acre, the lowest being eleven bushels and the highest thirty-five and one-half bushels, or over three times as much. The farm which produced the eleven bushel yield has been systematically skinned for years past. The one which gave thirty-five and one-half bushels has raised much stock and its fertility kept up by feeding most of the products of the farm on the farm. Nineteen bushels to the acre, and that in a section where oats in the past have yielded as high as sixty and seventy bushels, shows a state of affairs which farmers individually and collectively may well be looking into. How long is it going to take for agriculturists to learn that they can't keep subtracting from the soil without each year without replacement with fertilizers and still continue taking from it the same interest returns in the shape of crop yields?

MASSAGE HINTS

How to Secure the Best Results from this Most Difficult Art.

For every woman who understands the true principles of massage—its underlying secrets of proper manipulation—there are fifty who, less informed, either do their complexion little good or else actual harm. This is because the delicate skin tissue of the face, neck and shoulders may be easily ruined by rough and unscientific rubbing, or seemingly good effects may be secured by means that speedily react, leaving the skin in a worse condition than before the amateur massaging was undertaken.

Every woman who values her complexion should use Crown Cream for this work, because it is not only the best massaging cream known, but it has marked beneficial qualities in itself. Its best effects can be secured, however, when used in connection with the Harlan Beauty Cup, which is an ingenious device for the securing of perfect massage by a mild vacuum process. The combination never fails, because in addition to the refreshing, cleansing and healing action of the Crown Cream, the Beauty Cup acts directly upon the pores, pumping out their impurities, and also upon the cellular tissue and minute network of blood vessels immediately beneath the skin. It quickly rounds out the cheeks, arms and neck by bringing fresh, healthful blood to the wasted places.

Crown Cream retails everywhere at 50c a jar, which is also the price of the Beauty Cup. They may be had from all dealers or will be sent prepaid by the Harlan Mfg. Co., Toledo, O., on receipt of price.

The Intruders.

Clang, clatter, bang! Down the street came the fire engines.

Driving along ahead, oblivious of any danger, was a farmer in a ramshackle old buggy. A policeman yelled at him: "Hi, there! Look out! The fire department's coming!"

Turning in by the curb, the farmer watched the hose cart, salvage wagon and engine whiz past. Then he turned out into the street again and drove on. Barely had he started when the hook and ladder came tearing along. The rear wheel of the big truck slewed into the farmer's buggy, smashing it to smithereens and sending the farmer sprawling into the gutter. The policeman ran to his assistance.

"Didn't I tell you to keep out of the way?" he demanded crossly. "Didn't I tell you the fire department was coming?"

"Waal, consarn ye," said the irate farmer, "I did git outter the way for the fire department. But what in tarnation was them drunken painters in sech an all-fired hurry fer?"—Everybody's Magazine.

THE WEAK SPOT IN HIS ARMOR.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.]

Deacon Job Carter lived in the village of Oldham, and when his great temptation came to him he was over fifty years old.

Six evenings per week Deacon Carter went to the postoffice. He averaged only about four letters per year, but his trips to the postoffice were made just the same. On one particular evening a letter was handed him which excited surprise and curiosity. It was postmarked at New York, and it had a business look and feeling. Those standing around when the letter was passed out looked for the deacon to open it then and there and give them a chance to comment; but, greatly to their chagrin, he placed it in his pocket and started off home. On reaching there he ought to have sat down and opened his letter, but something restrained him. He said nothing of its receipt even, and it was not opened until his good wife threw a shawl over her head and went over to a neighbor's to have a bit of gossip.

Deacon Carter trembled when he carefully cut the envelope of that mysterious letter with a table knife and saw greenbacks in it. Yes, there were a two dollar bill and a one dollar bill, and both were brand new and full of crackle. Who had sent him money? Why had it been sent? His heart was beating faster as he unfolded a type-written letter accompanying the cash. It was from a party in New York. The party had heard of the deacon and was going to trust him with a great secret. The party was manufacturing greenbacks—not counterfeit, but the genuine thing, same as the inclosed, same as those turned out by Uncle Sam. The party felt that he had at least a moral right to do this. All governments were oppressors; all individuals had a right to better their condition. He was bettering his and at the same time not hurting the government or any of his fellow men. In fact, he was benefiting the country by putting more money in circulation and making it easy to get.

The church to which the deacon belonged wanted to raise the minister's salary; it wanted to repair the spire of the edifice; it wanted to replace the old pew cushions. The congregation was waiting for the deacon to lead off with a liberal subscription, but as a matter of fact he was hard up, having been adding some of his relatives. He looked at the bills before him and bawled. If he had only $50 he would ask for no more. Would it harm the government or any one else for him to get the $50 in the way suggested?

"Of course it would," said the good man to himself as he heard his wife returning and hastily pocketed the money and circular, and he went to bed determined to return the epistle on the morrow. He awoke with the same determination, but his wife was to be the cause of a change of heart. At the breakfast table she said:

"Joab, we are out of brown sugar."

"Um"

"We must have tea today."

"Um"

"And you'll have to take my shoes to Smith's and get 'em fixed. I got my feet damp last night."

An hour later Deacon Carter started out on his errand. He had a silver dollar in his pocket, but as he was about to enter the store the idea came to him to hand out the new dollar bill received in his letter. No second thought came. He handed it over when his purchases had been made, and the merchant received it and made change without a word. That settled matters. The money was not counterfeit, and no one was being harmed by handling it. That afternoon a letter was written to the party in New York. The deacon started out to say that he would buy $50 of the money, but made it $200 instead. He would go to the city at any date and take $100 in Uncle Sam's money with him. He knew where he could borrow that sum for a few days. He would deal just once and no more.

Then followed a considerable correspondence. A date was set for the deacon to show up, and he was so strongly advised to take $500 instead of the lesser sum that he agreed. He had to sell one of his cows, two hogs and two calves and do some borrowing to make up the amount, and he had to dodge many questions from his wife, but the day finally arrived when he started for the city. He was a "come along" at last. He was to be met at the depot, and he was met. The man who met him gave a word, and the deacon replied when a couple of detectives arrested both.

At the police station the deacon showed his letters and told his story, while the green goods man took care to say nothing. The deacon was not arrested. He was simply talked to and sent direct home.

Don't you imagine that the people of this town have ever heard these things of Deacon Carter. I am giving you a private tip in telling you, and his standing is not in the least been impaired. Only when Thursday evening comes around and the deacon rings the bell for prayer meeting he rings in a sort of rejoicing way, as one that has escaped a peril, and when he drops the bellrope to lead his good neighbors in prayer there is a deeper feeling in his tones as he petitions:

"And may our feet be kept from straying into forbidden paths and the pitfalls of the world no longer allure us."

Landowners in several sections having thin and washed patches of land are wondering if the common wild sweet clover does not offer something which may be grown advantageously on such land. The ability of this legume to shift for itself, as seen in its occupation of unpromising spots along railroad rights of way and other inhospitable places, coupled with the fact that it is entirely hardy and a soil enricher, like other clovers, seems a strong point in its favor. It is true that as a pasture stock have to "learn" to eat it, when they seem to do well on it. The hay it makes is not of high grade—somewhat woody—yet is nutritious. It is at least worth a trial on soils which will grow little or nothing.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y., Press Correspondent New York State Grange

A GREAT GRANGE FAIR

Annual Encampment of a Pennsylvania Pomona Grange.

The Grange Owns Twenty-eight Acres of Land in a Park, and Hundreds of Farmers and Their Families Hold There a Big Fair Every September.

The Center county Pomona grange of Pennsylvania annually holds a great encampment and grange fair at Center Hall. This annual gathering is absolutely a grange enterprise and is conducted under the management of the county grange. It started as a one day grange picnic in 1874 and was converted into a three days' encampment in 1887, and in 1890 the county grange bought twenty-eight acres of land joining the borough of Center Hall and converted it into a park, known as Grange park, paying $115 an acre, the title and ownership being absolutely in the county grange, it being an incorporated body. Since the purchase of the ground there has been added to the encampment a grange fair which has been enlarged from year to year. The whole ground is thoroughly equipped with suitable exhibition buildings. The county grange also owns a large number of tents and full camp equipment, which are rented to families at $3 per tent. Several hundred farmers and their families camp every year, the attendance aggregating from ten to fifteen thousand.

The thirty-sixth annual encampment and grange fair was held Sept. 11 to 17. Leading members of the Order and people prominent in public affairs addressed the people daily in the large auditorium.

This year a large and attractive poultry building has been erected superior to any building of the kind on the largest fair grounds in the state, and the poultry exhibit was a special attraction at this year's grange fair. The general exhibition building erected two years ago has proved a great attraction and has been crowded with exhibits. The museum of relics is a very interesting feature and attracts many people. Among the most interesting exhibits in the museum is a full set of machinery for the manufacture of flax as used by our ancestors. Another feature is an old fashioned chimney place filled with the cooking utensils of our grandmothers.

FARMING IN SCHOOLS.

Opinion of Members of the Faculty of an Agricultural College.

The Mansfield (Conn.) grange has in its membership several of the faculty of the Connecticut Agricultural college, and their opinion on the subject of teaching agriculture in our common schools may be of general interest. The Mansfield grange, after due consideration, adopted the following report on the subject:

"Agriculture, while a technical, vocational subject, is so closely related to the welfare of every individual that we recognize the need for a general dissemination of information as to the conditions of country life and the relation of agriculture to the community—the conditions favorable for the conservation and development of the agricultural resources of the nation. The place for this instruction is in the higher grades of our public schools, both city and country, and the instruction should be given by teachers specially trained for the work and not by teachers engaged in the general work of instruction in the various subjects of school work.

"Before agriculture can be properly introduced into our country school there must be a radical change in our system. The higher grades at least must be brought together into the consolidated graded township school. In this consolidated school a teacher of science could very properly be employed, a part of whose duties should be to teach agriculture. In our common country schools as at present organized we do not favor the introduction of agriculture as a part of the required work.

"In all grades we favor the use of text books which shall familiarize the pupils with agricultural terms."

New Apportionment of Delegates.

At a recent meeting of the Jefferson county (N. Y.) Pomona it was decided to support the Northern New York Development league by voting it $25 annual dues. Another important matter considered was the plan of appointing state grange delegates to be put in force at the next annual meeting in December, and the plan was adopted. It gives the various granges in the county a more equitable distribution of delegates. Six of the largest granges in the county are given one delegate each year, and the other delegates apportioned to the county are divided among the remainder of the granges according to the membership. The delegates to alternate among them. Two granges and in a few cases three granges are grouped together as a unit, and one of the three granges will be entitled to a delegate each year. Each subordinate grange entitled to a delegate will recommend a suitable candidate to the Pomona before the annual meeting, leaving the election to the Pomona.

FARMHOUSE SANITATION.

The problem of house sanitation is largely solved by city residents who have drainage from their houses direct into good sewage systems. In smaller towns and in the country, where such an outlet is not possible, the matter of the house drainage and closet should receive careful attention. Where the householder has the means by all odds the best system is an indoor toilet room, coupled with good drainage for the seat, bath and lavatory into a cesspool of ample size located at a sufficient distance from the well so that there cannot be any possibility of contamination of the water supply therefrom. Where such a system is installed pipes from the kitchen sink should be connected with it. Where means are limited or the house is cold and winter weather conditions are such that the pipes are likely to freeze, some other arrangement will have to be made. While a bathtub would still be possible, such disposal would have to be made of the drainage from it as not to result in dampness about the house. A satisfactory as well as sanitary arrangement for the closet is the substitution of a drawer of ample size in place of a cesspool and so arranged that it may be pulled out by a single horse, drawn to some distant spot and emptied as often as may be necessary. The place may be still further sweetened and the danger from flies eliminated if air slaked lime is sprinkled in the drawer during the period of accumulation, and incidentally the lime will probably be good for the land. Another respect in which the health of the farm home may be safeguarded—and here good farming jibes in with correct sanitation—is cleaning out the pens, yards and feed lots as frequently as possible and scattering the fertilizers at once on those portions of the farm which are most in need of them. There are thousands of farm homes where a few or one of the suggestions above made might be carried out and the premises be made more sanitary, more comfortable and more attractive as a consequence.

AN ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK.

The last issue of Secretary Wilson's year book of agriculture contains a good deal of interesting and optimistic information touching the advance which has been made along agricultural lines during the past twelve years. He finds that the agricultural balance of trade favorable to the United States has increased from $234,000,000 to $411,000,000 in twelve years, being a gain of 75.7 per cent. He reports that the employees in the agricultural department, as a result of the recognition of the importance of the work by the people at large, through their congressmen, have been increased from 2,444 in 1897 to 10,420 in 1908. He notes a rapid introduction of better agricultural methods and more effective machinery and a closer and more practical connection between the work of the state experiment stations and the agricultural interests of the country. Secretary Wilson observes that, while there has been a decreasing production per acre of what was originally virgin soil, there has been an increased production per acre for the whole country. He finds that cotton production has increased in ten years from 172 to 191 pounds per acre, that the increase in production of corn per acre in Ohio has been 17.5, of oats in Indiana 17.9, of wheat in New York 16.2 and in Nebraska 45.9 per cent. Along with all this advance in many lines there has been an increase in financial returns, which has meant better living as well as more comforts and compensations of rural inhabitants. The general tone of the veteran secretary's report is such that the rural citizen would seem to be justified now in laying plans for a large turkey and a generous outlay of plum pudding for the last Thursday in November.

TREATING FENCEPOSTS.

If one has a good deal of fencing to do he is justified in looking into some method of giving the posts a preservative treatment whereby their term of usefulness may be extended. Creosote is one of the materials most commonly employed in preserving wood and where commercially used is forced into the posts in cylinders under pressure. This is called the "pressure method." Another method and one more commonly used by those who have a limited number of posts to treat is the "open tank." It has been found that by immersing the wood first in a hot and then in a cold liquid almost as good results are obtained as in the pressure method. If two tanks are not available for the hot and cold baths one tank will suffice, the posts being left in the hot preservative for several hours and the heat then shut off and allowed to cool in the oil until the proper saturation has taken place.

CURES PIMPLES QUICKLY

Simple Remedy That Soon Clears Skin of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past H. M. Buehler has done the biggest business he ever had in any one article in selling Hokars, the skin food that has won so many friends in Gettysburg.

It has been found to be an absolute cure, not only for all minor skin troubles such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but for the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucus membrane that Hokars does not heal, and its action is so instantaneous that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits L. M. Buehler will sell a liberal sized jar for 25c.; larger size 50c. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

H. B. Bender will have a sale of second hand furniture, Saturday, November 30.
